Challenges: Not having enough volunteers is always our biggest challenge, because with more volunteers, we would be able to be open more hours. The cold weather which causes our clients to need warm clothing and to have high energy bills, but having inadequate financial means is very hard to see. However the grant helps us exist and we are able to refer our clients to agencies that can help them.

Comments: We had another really full quarter. Our clients were extremely happy with being able to receive warm clothing from the contributions of clothing. Also we were able to refer them to Christmas Anonymous and the energy assistance program and the Salvation Army Coat Drive and so many, many other agencies to help them. We had a great volunteer training this quarter! We listened to presentations from some of the various agencies that exist in our area. We also had hands on training to help us become better client advisors, with a volunteer guest who role played as a client. This helped us to observe the do's and don'ts. We all learned so much to help us to do a better job. We also held a baby shower where we received many contributions of baby clothing. It was great! We also had a booth at 'Spark in the Dark' event at a local church.
